A camp nurse/health care provider is on duty 24-hours/day, cabin leaders are trained and certified in First Aid and CPR, the “Health Hut” is equipped to care for the medical needs of campers and staff, and the local hospital and ambulance service are quickly available. All campers, volunteers, and staff MUST have a current health record on file at Lutherlyn prior to staying at camp.

Please take the health and well-being of others, particularly those who may have compromised immune systems, into consideration when evaluating your own health prior to a retreat/event at Lutherlyn. While we certainly would love to have you here, we do not want others to get sick while attending a retreat. When sharing a cabin/sleeping space and meeting rooms with people from other households, it is important to consider multiple factors prior to arriving at Lutherlyn. If you have symptoms that indicate you could have a contagious illness (fever, vomiting, diarrhea, cough, congestion, etc.) that could transmit to others, please cancel your reservation for a full refund. Lutherlyn will issue a full refund for ALL medical related cancellations.

Anyone who tests positive for or is diagnosed with a respiratory viral illness (such as COVID-19, influenza, and RSV) with onset of symptoms within 5 days prior to the start of camp, should cancel for a full refund. To come to a Lutherlyn program or retreat after having a respiratory viral illness, you must be at least 5 days past the onset of symptoms, 48 hours fever free, and have no symptoms or mild and improving symptoms. If symptoms develop while at Lutherlyn, please refrain from interacting with others, notify the retreat leader, and depart from Lutherlyn. A pro-rated refund will be issued.

UNIVERSAL EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

STEP ONE: STAY CALM:

Remember, a life may depend upon your clear thinking and prompt, correct action. You can help no one if you panic or perform the incorrect action.

STEP TWO: ASSESS THE SITUATION:

What are the facts? Is there still danger? Is there need for help? Should we take cover? Is there injury? What needs to be done?

STEP THREE: PLAN THE COURSE OF ACTION

Determine the order of needs, movement, first aid, send for help, take cover, etc. Plan how to carry out the action. Determine who is to do what. When applicable, yield authority to a superior or to one more highly trained in dealing with the emergency.

STEP FOUR: CARRY OUT THE PLAN:

When you have formed your plan, put it into action.

STEP FIVE: GET HELP AS SOON AS POSSIBLE:

This step may have been part of step four or it could wait until the emergency passed. As soon as possible, notify the Nurse, Directors/Unit Leaders.

PUBLIC RELATIONS CONCERNING AN EMERGENCY

1. Cooperate fully with the authorities.
2. Know the essential facts, i.e., nature of events, results. Stick to the Facts!! Do not offer opinions.
3. Do not volunteer information to spectators, campers, or strangers.
4. If asked about insurance coverage, you are only authorized to say "it will be referred to the camp's insurance company."
5. In dealing with the news media/public, maintain an attitude of cooperation, but do not give any information. Refer all questions to the Directors.
6. Never give any information off the record.

POLICY ON UNAUTHORIZED VISITORS

All visitors must sign in/out at the office and wear a visitor badge to indicate that they have permission to be on the property. If someone is wearing a visitor badge, they have permission to be on the property. All visitors are to be approached in a friendly and welcoming manner and asked their business. If they have no legitimate business on camp, they are to be informed that they are on private property and asked to leave. If they should fail to comply, a director is to be notified to follow up. As a last resort, the police are to be called.

PROCEDURE FOR ACTIVE ATTACKER

An active attacker incident would involve an individual threatening to or shooting a firearm at camp. An active attacker is an armed person(s) whose action is immediately causing death or great bodily injury. It is imperative that camp staff be vigilant to identify risks and unwanted visitors in camp and react quickly and appropriately.

- During an emergency, staff should be familiar with the emergency action plan. If possible, staff will be alerted to the active attacker situation. Anyone that perceives an active attacker situation should immediately text/call a Director with the location and brief description of the threat. The Director will call 911 and send a group message to the staff. The group message will say, "Active Attacker: (location of the attacker)". If there is not time to notify a director, the staff person to perceive the danger will send the group message and call 911.
- First, identify the general location of the threat. Then, calm campers and guests and reassure them that, "It's going to be all right. Follow my lead." Be prepared to take immediate action, lock and barricade doors, and evacuate campers to a safe area. You also need to be prepared to help those with special needs and/or physical challenges. This is different from other emergencies as we would not come together in one place until an "all clear" signal is heard. Remember that campers are likely to follow the lead of staff during an emergency. With campers, the biggest thing is for you to remain calm and keep the kids calm. Give the campers clear and concise instructions as to what to do when such an event happens. Staff need to be prepared to help the greatest number of campers that they can help. This might mean leaving some campers to save others that are trapped or hurt.

The following guidelines are based on studies of active attacker events by the FBI, Department of Homeland Security, and the U.S. Secret Service. The most important things to remember are RUN, HIDE, FIGHT. For a violent situation like this, you do the opposite of other emergencies where you all gather in one place.

- RUN away from danger. Be out of the attacker's view. Do not return once you have made it to a safe place. Leave your belongings behind. Take your phone only if it's safe to do so. Getting rid of backpacks will help police to know you are not the attacker.
- HIDE in a safe area, out of the active attacker's view. Prevent individuals from entering an area where the active attacker may be. Indoors, stay in the building, lock or barricade doors, cover windows, and turn out the lights. Your hiding place should not trap you or restrict your options for movement. Hide behind large items and remain quiet. Outdoors, guide campers and guests to seek shelter in any safe building nearby. If not practical to do so: run with the group in a safe direction; spread out in small pockets; run between trees/objects. Upon arriving at a safer location, remain there.
- Call 911 when you are safe. Avoid calling others; only call 911. If you are a safe distance from the attacker, call or text the camp director to alert of your whereabouts. Silence your phone and turn off any other source of noise.
- You and your campers should remain concealed and quiet until called out by police or one of your camp leaders who you can positively identify by voice or another sign. Be prepared to remain at that location for hours. When the police arrive, keep your hands visible to responding officers and follow their instructions.
- Provide protection if shots are fired in your direction. Do not attempt to move wounded people but if someone with you is wounded, use your first aid training.
- If running and hiding are not possible, remain calm and dial 911, if possible, to alert police to the active attacker's location. If you cannot speak, leave the line open and allow the dispatcher to listen.
- Get out if you can, hide if you must, and as a last resort commit to taking out your attacker. If you find yourself in the position of not being able to escape from an active attacker, your best chance of survival is to FIGHT and actively engage your attacker in combat. Take the attacker out. Be resourceful, use whatever tools (i.e. weapons) that are at your disposal. Throw items and improvise weapons. Work as a team if possible. Use items such as chairs, brooms, lamps, heavy garbage cans, sticks, rocks, or loop your belt through a heavy item to swing. Yell. Maintain a low center of gravity. A confident mindset and a willingness to attack are your most valuable assets in this situation. SPEED, SURPRISE and AGGRESSIVE ACTION are your best chance to combat an active attacker.
- ALL CLEAR: When the incident is over you will be notified by police or camp staff through direct contact. Listen and follow all the directions given. This might mean coming out with your hands visible or above your head. Do not come out of hiding just because you haven't heard anything in a while. If it is necessary to evacuate camp, you will be told how to do so. Assist other staff with the headcount process and continue to reassure your campers. At this point, put our campers and guests ahead of your own needs. We will assist you with personal counseling as soon as possible.

MEDIA: If an active attacker event happens at camp, our normal media procedures will be put into play. For the safety of you, our other staff, campers, and guests, please do not post anything on social media about the incident. This may make it more difficult for law enforcement and Lutherlyn to manage the situation.
